GENERAL TIPS FOR RESEARCHING THE LSI

➤ HOW TO FIND THE NEXT PAGE OF A MULTIPLE PAGE DOCUMENT

- The “DOCUMENT NAME” is given to the document using two different systems
 - The current numbering system uses the “DOCUMENT NAME” starting with a Y
 - The documents from this system include the complete document
 - The original numbering system uses the microfiche jacket number for the “DOCUMENT NAME”
 - These documents were scanned from the microfiche and each document includes all the pages from one row of microfiche not by the document
 - If the document is continued from the last page of the scanned microfiche row, find the next page by searching for the next row in the “DOCUMENT NAME” field

- Look at the “DOCUMENT NAME”
 - It will correspond to the microfiche jackets as seen above
 - Microfiche on 35mm will have 2 rows, A and B, 1 to 3 images, as seen on the left
 - Does the name end in an “A”?
 - If so, in the “DOCUMENT NAME” field on the LSI Search page, enter the document name with a “B” instead of the “A”
 - Does the name end in a “B”?
 - Look for the next microfiche jacket number
 - Change the document name up one number with an “A”
 - Microfiche on 16mm will have 5 rows, A, B, C, D, and E, 1 to 12 images, as seen on the right
 - Using the same technique as above, look for the next page of the document
